Registering for free school meals gets money for schools

Did you know registering for free school meals helps get extra funds for school?

This helps to provide extra tuition, additional teaching staff or after school activities.

This additional money is available from central government for every child, when their parents have registered for free school meals. And nationally more than 10 per cent who are eligible, don't claim.

To qualify, your child must be in school and you must be receiving one of the following benefits:

- Income support
- Income based Job Seekers Allowance

- Income related Employment and Support Allowance
- NASS support
- Guarantee element of State Pension
- Child Tax Credit, provided you're not also entitled to Working Tax Credit and have an annual gross income of no more than £16,190
- Working Tax Credit for the four weeks after employment ends
- Universal Credit, provided you have an annual net earned income of no more than £7,400

If this applies to you but your child isn't registered for free school meals, complete a form and return it to your child's school.

'Secret School', with local artist Sarah Wainwright.

Children from Reception and Year 1 have recently taken part in a project called 'Secret School', with local artist Sarah Wainwright. The project included sun-print map-making, pinhole photography and using a camera trap to record wildlife visiting the school at night. The finished work (including a short film) can now be seen on Sarah's website, and there will be an exhibition at St Nicolas' Church in July - further details to follow. Feel free to contact Sarah with any comments or questions. Enjoy!

For this project I collaborated with primary school children aged 4-7, to investigate and document their school grounds from unusual perspectives. Together we made cyanotype maps of the playground, created a film about night-time visitors to the school garden, and used pinhole cameras to render familiar landscapes surreal and otherworldly by photographing them over long durations of time.
